

He who...

He who is not brightened by such splendours of created things
is blind;
he who does not awake
at such clamours
is deaf;
he who does not praise God on account of all these effects
is mute;
he who does not turn
towards the First Principle on account of such indications is stupid.

Saint Bonaventure
